

AIM OF Mine

This is MD Sabbir Hosen. Basically, I have not any specific work yet. That's why I like to take the challenge to something new. Actually, I am so interested in Computer Science Engineering(CSE). But, I can't it from any educational institute. Because I haven't any chance to fulfill my desire. But, I am not given up. Really, I love technology so much. Because Technology is power. I am still trying to touch my dream by learning all of the CSE objects from the internet. And now I am writing a post on the blog just like a part of my dream. I have told that I can take the challenge. Taking the challenge to complete our daily tasks is a great way to reach our goal. That's why I like to complete all of my targets via setup a challenge. Now I am learning just basic of

- HTML
- CSS
- JS
- PHP
- SQL

I am not learning this for any job or make my carrier. This is my hobby though it was my AIM. I will try to learn programming language after complete web development. Now I have the AIM that I will complete my life through a lot of skill. Because Knowledge is power. I want to be self-educated. I don't care about any educational certificate I am just familiar with skills. That's why I want to achieve as far as possible skills. It's not possible to finish writing about my mentality. That's why I need to leave. Bye no more today. Goodbye.

Don't quite.

~... ~... ~...